Frequently Asked Questions and Answers

Will tours be canceled after May 1?

Out of concern for the health and safety of our campus community as well as the health and safety of our prospective students and their families, we have made the difficult decision to cancel all campus tours and information sessions including admitted student sessions through May 1, 2020. We will continue to closely monitor and evaluate information and guidance provided by state and federal agencies which could extend the length of our closure. Please check back on our website fsu.edu/coronavirus for the latest information in case our plan changes due to new developments or recommendations from the CDC, WHO, and the Florida Department of Health.

When will tours resume?

We are anticipating tours will resume after May 1; however, we will continue to closely monitor and evaluate information and guidance provided by state and federal agencies which could extend the length of our closure. We recognize the inconvenience of this closure and we appreciate your patience as we continue to make decisions that keep everyone safe. We encourage guests to check alerts.fsu.edu for the most up to date information on the status of our campus.

How can I get information about FSU if I am unable to come to campus?

We anticipate having virtual information sessions available soon on visit.fsu.edu. In the meantime, while certainly not the same as a real visit, we encourage you to view our virtual tour at https://www.youvisit.com/tour/fsu.

How will I receive updated information for when tours will resume?

If you had registered for a tour that was canceled, we will email you with information about our virtual offerings as soon as they are made available. We encourage all visitors to check visit.fsu.edu for the most up to date information on the status of campus tours.

Will the campus be open to visitors to do self-guided tours on their own?

While we encourage all guests to practice social distancing, visitors do have the option to download the myFSU mobile app and select Main Campus Tour to complete a self-guided tour.
